

GUIDELINES FOR POSTER PRESENTATIONS

March 30, 2022

Guidelines in brief

Below is a summary of important points from the following sections.

- Print and bring your own poster of A0 size to the conference.
- Paper title and number (submission ID) must be clearly visible on the poster.
- Send a PowerPoint file of only one slide for your 1 minute (60 seconds) poster teaser presentation by June 1st to the poster teaser session chair, Gareth Thomson, who will be in contact with you ahead of time.
- Hang your poster on its designated board in the foyer on the morning of the day to which your poster has been assigned.

Preparing your poster

A poster is an excellent medium for visually presenting your paper in a forum of open discussion and interaction between you and the other participants. Each presenter must print and bring their own poster to the venue. No printing service will be available at CDIO 2022.

The recommended poster size is A0 (841 mm x 1180 mm) in portrait orientation.

The title of your paper and the paper number (submission ID) should be clearly visible on the poster. The author name(s) as well as affiliated institution(s) should also be included in the title section of your poster and written exactly the same way as in your paper.

You are free to use your own discretion when designing the content and layout of the poster. As a visual medium that is intended to stand on its own, a poster successfully fulfills this purpose when it includes charts, drawings, diagrams, photographs, and other figures designed for easy visual comprehension.

Additional printed materials, such as handouts that summarize the poster and provide your contact information, are allowed.

Poster teaser session

Each poster will be presented at the poster teaser session on the first day of the conference. One of the authors representing your poster must present the poster at the teaser session. During the teaser session you will have exactly 1 minute (60 seconds) to introduce your work and attract audience members for the longer poster session that follows. Please think of this presentation as an opportunity to create interest for your poster among the attendees.

On your turn during the session, a standard slide containing the title and author(s) of your paper will be briefly displayed. The slideshow will then show a single slide prepared by you and your 60 seconds will begin. In order to allow this session to run smoothly, please prepare only one (1) slide in Microsoft PowerPoint (.pptx) format using the template available on the conference website. This is a strict limit and the organizers reserve the right to remove any additional slides if your file contains more than one. The presentation system to be used is suitable for slides of 16:9 aspect ratio, so please prepare your PowerPoint slide accordingly. Additionally, a connection to the audio system will provide playback for any sounds that are timed to play automatically.

Send your slide by June 1st, 2022 to the chair of the poster teaser session in a message with the subject "Poster teaser slide #<>" (for example "Poster teaser slide #245"). The session chair is Gareth Thomson ( email G.A.THOMSON@aston.ac.uk) and he will be in touch with all the presenting authors about the teaser slides well ahead of the deadline. The presentation file name should be the paper number (submission ID) followed by an underscore followed by the last name of your first author (for example, 001_Suzuki.pptx). Authors who do not submit this file on time will only have the standard title and author(s) slide during their presentation.

Technical Details

The poster session will take place in the main entrance hall of Reykjavik University („Sólin“) Monday June 13 and the posters will remain on display there throughout the conference. During the poster session, at least one of the authors must be present to introduce its content, answer questions from other participants, and otherwise discuss the poster topic.

The conference organizers will set up the poster boards Monday morning. They will also mark the poster boards with the numbers of each paper. Please be prepared to find your respective board and hang your poster before the poster teaser session begins on Monday morning.
