The Academic Strength of Reykjavik University (RU)

(Report from RU Research Services, March 2023)

Introduction

The overall aim of the RU Research Services is to assist the University in implementing its research strategy (http://en.ru.is/research/about/ru-research-strategy/) and to support academic employees at the University in becoming researchers of international quality. The three main objectives of the RU Research Services are:

- 1. to assist financing research at RU, e.g., by monitoring grant opportunities in Iceland and abroad and provide support in the writing of applications and management of grants.
- 2. to monitor and evaluate research activities at RU, e.g., carry out the RU Research Assessment, collect data on research activities, do research statistics and write reports on research development and the academic strength of RU.
- 3. to disseminate RU research activities within and outside RU and build connections with the main funders of research, both national and international funding agencies.

This report is divided into two main chapters. The first chapter is on RU publications in peer-reviewed outlets and the second chapter outlines research grants from national and international competitive research funds to RU. There are two appendixes. The first one is about publications in peer-reviewed outlets at RU departments and the second one is a list of grants RU has received from national competitive funds 2012-2022.

RU publications in peer-reviewed outlets

This report is based on data from research reports, academic employees with research duties submit to RU Research Services. All academic employees with research duties should submit a research report on 1st of October every second year. RU affiliated publications by academic employees leaving the University before 1st of October are not included in this report. Consequently, number of RU affiliated publications annually is in fact a bit higher than reported in this report.

The annual research report is divided into the following eight sections: 1. Research output in peer-reviewed outlets; 2. Impact beyond academia on society; 3. Talks and presentations; 4. Research grants; 5. Supervision; 6. Other research-related work; 7. Research output in non-peer-reviewed outlets; 8. Other research related information.

The section on research output in peer-reviewed outlets is divided into the following six chapters: 1. Articles in peer-reviewed scholarly journals; 2. Articles and abstracts in peer-reviewed conferences/symposia/proceedings; 3. Peer-reviewed books; 4. Peer-reviewed book chapters; 5. Other peer-reviewed publications and 6. Patents.

All academic employees are obliged to provide information on whether their publications are RU affiliated or not and whether articles published in scholarly journals are published in so called ISI journals. ISI is the abbreviation for Institute for Scientific Information and ISI journals are regarded as journals of high quality and with high impact. The most important publishing standards and qualities of ISI journals are timeliness of publication and the peer-review process (at least two expert reviewers per article). Furthermore, the journal's impact and the citation data associated with it are important factors.

Publications are counted according to the following method: If an article has two or more authors employed at RU, the article is counted only once as an RU publication. The same applies for abstracts, books, book chapters, etc.

Publication traditions are very different from one scientific field to another. Although all statistical data in this report is presented here in the same way for all departments, it is not done with the aim of enabling a comparison between the departments. The data is primarily presented here to give a comprehensive view of the academic strength of the University /departments and how it has developed.

In 2022, about 59% of RU publications in peer-reviewed outlets are in peer-reviewed scholarly journals, about 34% at peer-reviewed conferences/in conference proceedings and about 6% are peer-reviewed books and book chapters (see figure 1).

Number of articles in peer-reviewed scholarly journals have been increasing gradually, the proportion of those articles published in ISI journals has also increased (see figure 2). In 2022, the percentage of ISI publications is 98% in Department of Business Administration, 98% in Department of Psychology and 93% in Department of Engineering (see figure 3).

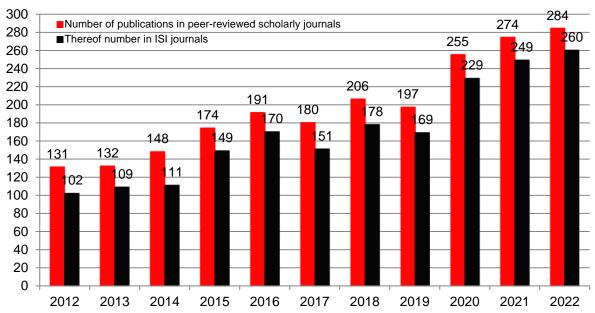

Figure 2: Number of RU affiliated articles in peer-reviewed scholarly journals 2012-2022 and the number of those publications in ISI journals (Source: Research Reports from academic employees).

Department of Law publishes proportionally more in domestic peer-reviewed outlets than the other departments at RU (the same applies to other Icelandic law departments and law departments in other countries). It is important to bear in mind, that in some cases it is not relevant to publish the results in other than peer-reviewed domestic outlets. These publications may well provide evidence of international excellence if they can be compared favourably with similar studies in other countries.

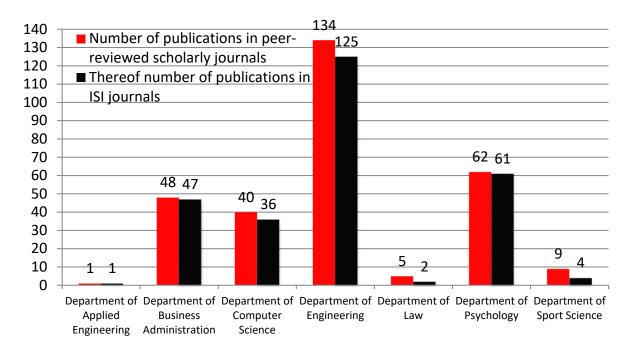

Figure 3: Number of RU affiliated articles in peer-reviewed scholarly journals 2022 per department and the number of those publications in ISI journals (Source: Research Reports from academic employees).

The number of RU affiliated publications in peer-reviewed outlets annually per academic employee has been around 3.5 and above in the period 2012-2022, see figure 4. The number of RU affiliated articles in peer-reviewed scholarly journals per academic employee has increased, see figure 5. Around 99% of all publications published in 2022 are in English, see figure 6.

Research grants from national and international competitive funds

The external financing of research at RU has systematically been strengthened by significantly increasing efforts to obtain research support from domestic and foreign sources. The success rate in competitive research funds, where grants proposals of academics are peer-reviewed, is an important criterion of academic strength. Therefore, it is very important that the University have efficient internal supports, i.e., research services, to monitor opportunities for obtaining external research funds and to provide assistance in applying, developing budgets, and lending other administrative support.

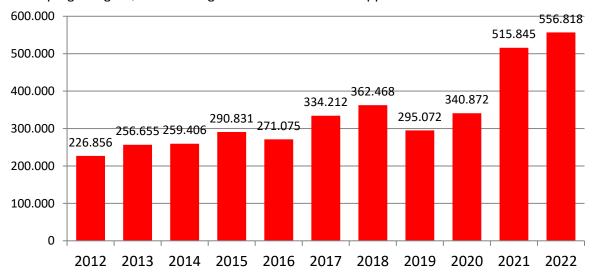

Figure 7: Grants to RU from national competitive research funds 2012-2022, in thousand ISK (Source: The Icelandic Centre for Research – RANNÍS and other Icelandic competitive funds).

In the period 2012-2022, the total allocation from national competitive funds has increased from around 227 million ISK in 2012 to around 557 million ISK in 2022, see figure 7 above.

Figure 8 shows the allocation to RU affiliated scientists from the Icelandic Research Fund (IRF) of the Science and Technology Policy Council. The allocation has increased in the period 2012-2022, i.e., from around 111 million ISK in 2012 to around 499 million ISK in 2022.

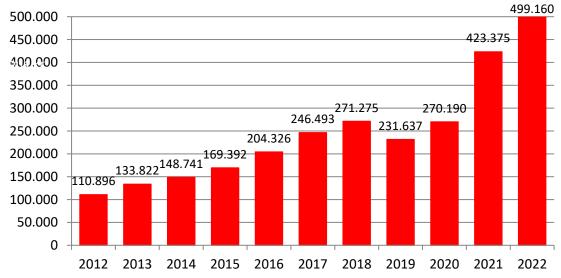

Figure 8: Allocation to RU affiliated scientists from the Icelandic Research Fund 2012-2022, in thousand ISK (Source: The Icelandic Centre for Research – RANNÍS).

Besides receiving grants from national research funds, the University receives several grants from international research funds annually, e.g., grants from the EU Framework Program. Figure 9 shows foreign grant revenues 2012-2022.

Appendix I – Publications in peer-reviewed outlets at RU departments

A: RU affiliated publications in peer-reviewed outlets 2012-2022 – Dept. of Business Administration

Number of publications in peer-reviewed outlets per language 2022

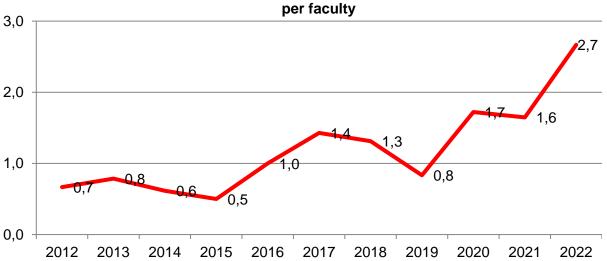

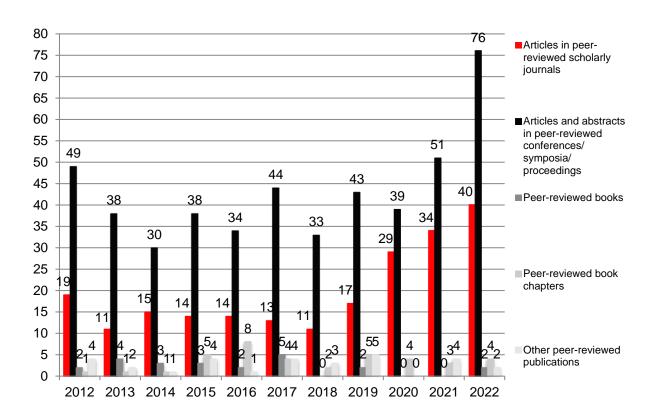

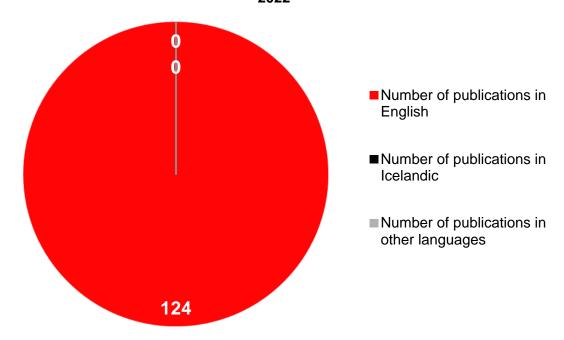

Number of articles published in peer-reviewed scholarly journals

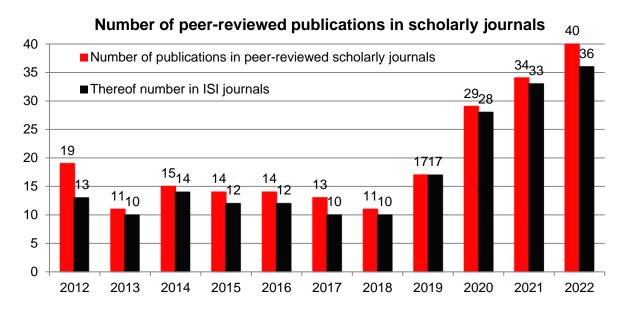

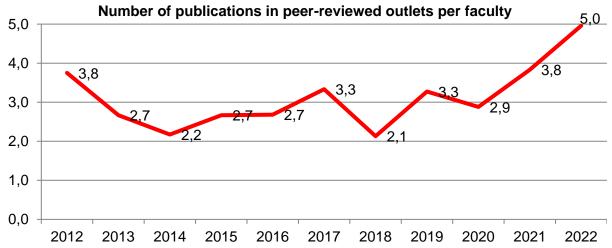

B: RU affiliated publications in peer-reviewed outlets 2012-2022 – Dept. of Computer Science

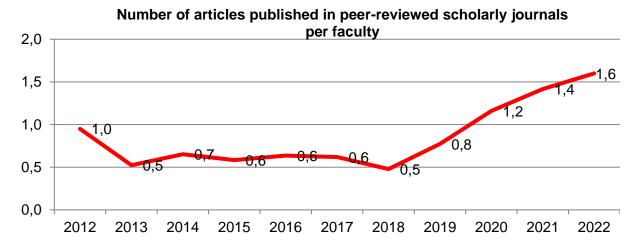

Number of publications in peer-reviewed outlets per language 2022

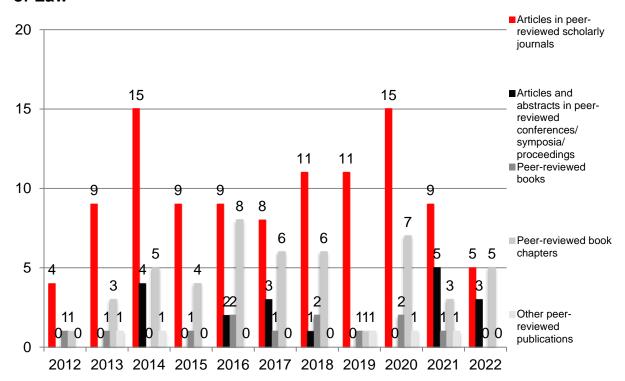

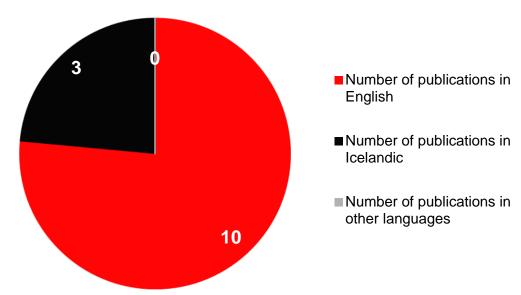

Department of Computer Science publishes proportionally and noticeably more in conference proceedings than other RU departments (see above). Around 95% of Dept. of Computer Science peer-reviewed publications in conference proceedings are articles!

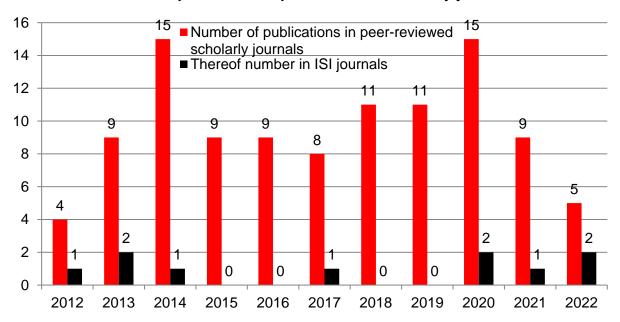

C: RU affiliated publications in peer-reviewed outlets 2012-2022 – Dept. of Law

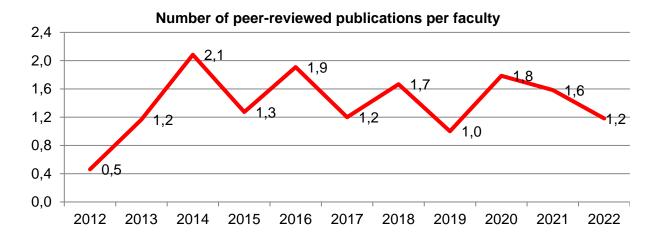

Number of publications in peer-reviewed outlets per language 2022

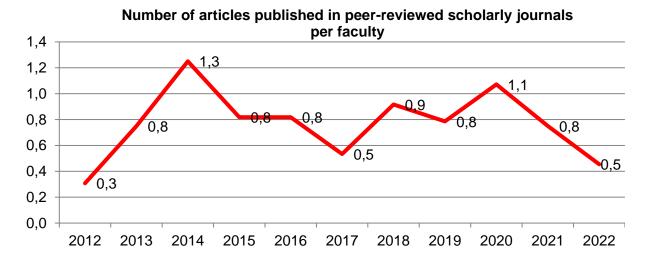

Number of peer-reviewed publications in scholarly journals

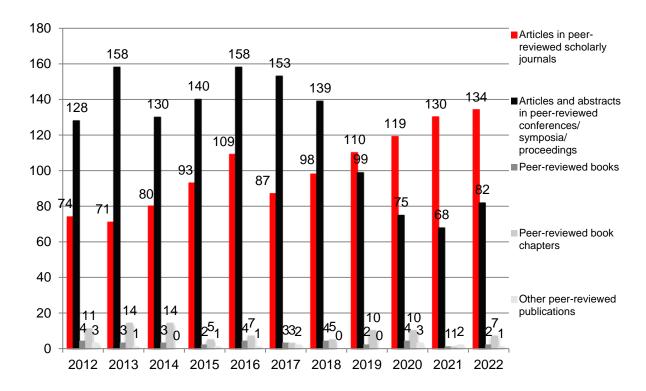

Note! Department of Law publishes proportionally and noticeably more in Icelandic journals and in Icelandic than other RU departments (see above).

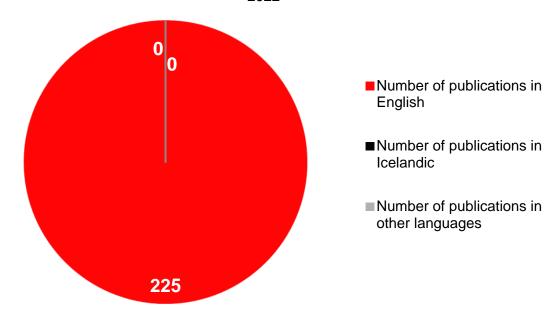

D: RU affiliated publications in peer-reviewed outlets 2012-2022 - Dept.

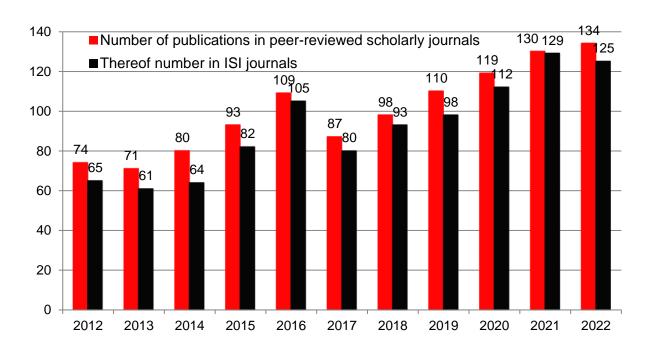

of Engineering (The years 2012-2018 include publications from two academics from the current Department of Applied Engineering. In 2019 the organisational structure of the University was changed, i.e., the former School of Science and Engineering became the current Department of Engineering and the Department of Applied Engineering)

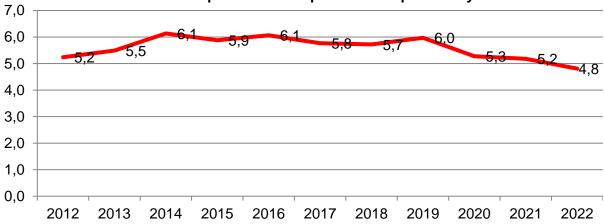

Number of publications in peer-reviewed outlets per language 2022

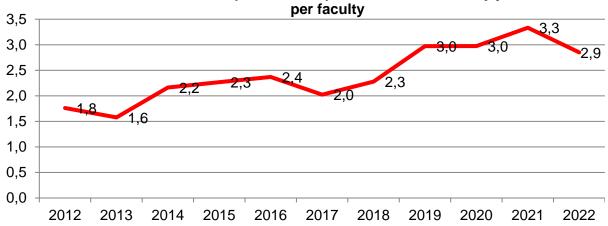

Number of peer-reviewed publications in scholarly journals

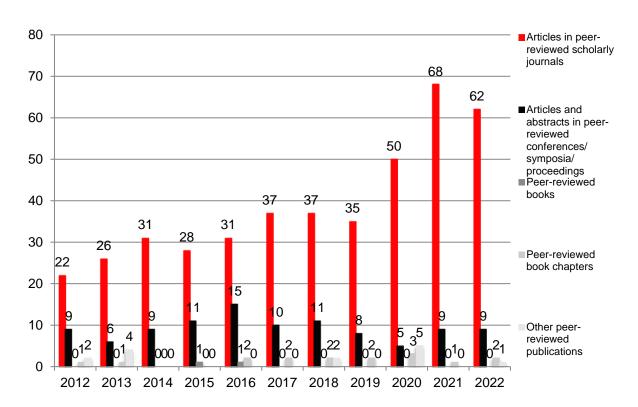

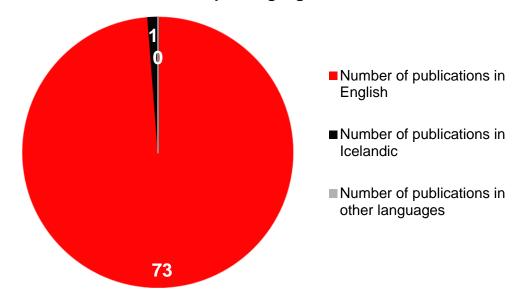

Number of articles published in peer-reviewed scholarly journals

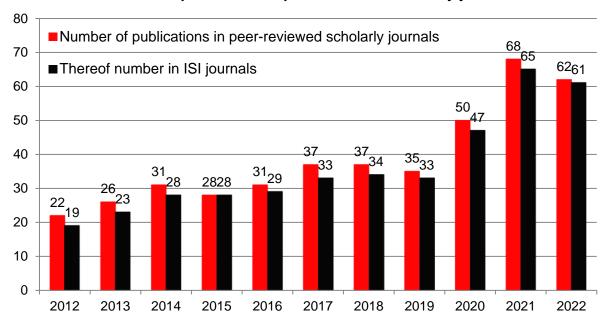

E: RU affiliated publications in peer-reviewed outlets 2012-2022 – Dept. of Psychology

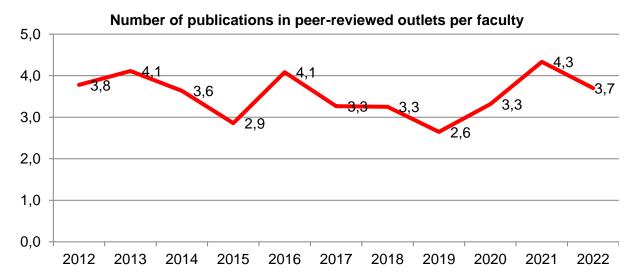

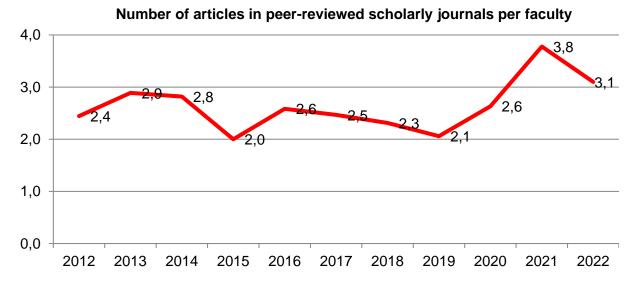

Number of RU affiliated publications in peer-reviewed outlets per language 2022

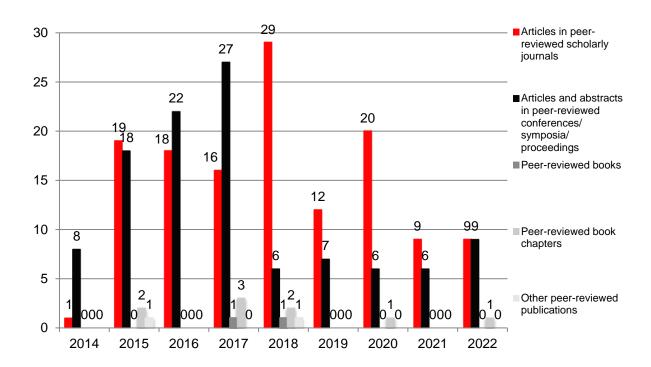

Number of peer-reviewed publications in scholarly journals

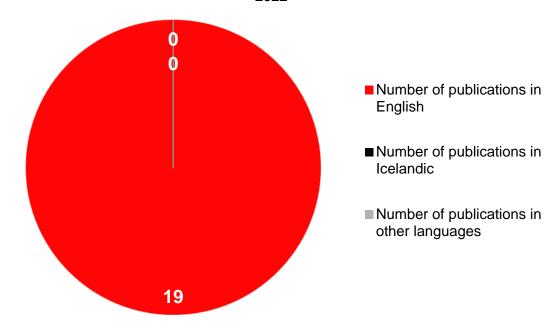

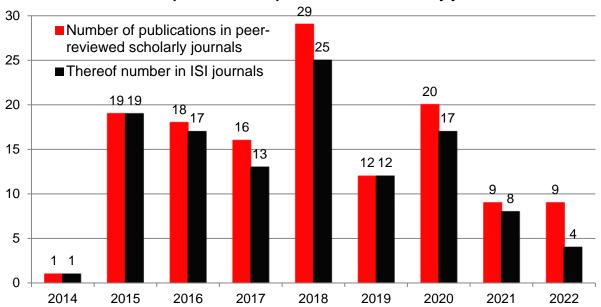

F: RU affiliated publications in peer-reviewed outlets 2014-2022 – Dept. of Sport Science

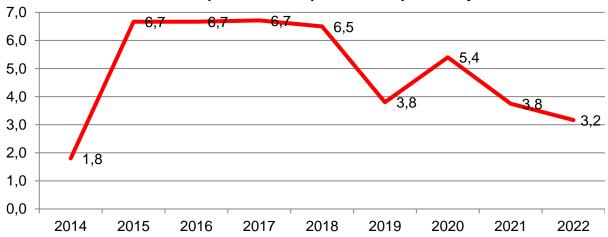

Number of publications in peer-reviewed outlets per language 2022

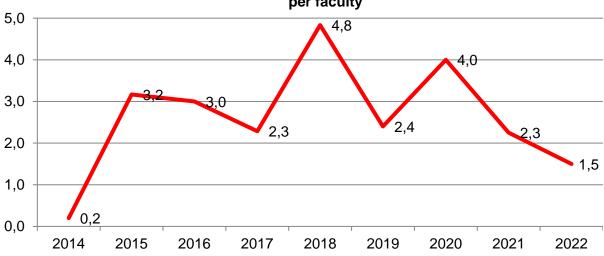

Number of peer-reviewed publications in scholarly journals

Number peer-reviewed publications per faculty

Number of articles published in peer-reviewed scholarly journals per faculty

G: Publications in peer-reviewed outlets - Dept. of Applied Engineering

Only two faculty members at Department of Applied Engineering do research and submit research reports. These two researchers had positions at School of Science and Engineering until 2019. That year the School was divided into two departments, i.e., Dept. of Engineering and Dept. of Applied Engineering. Publications at Dept. of Engineering (see above) include publications from the two researchers from the Dept. of Applied Engineering, but only for the years 2012–2018. Note, that publications from the two researchers at Dept. of Applied Engineering, are included in publications of the University 2019-2022.
